IMPACT: No Fiscal Impact

Summary of Legislation: This bill allows a meat processing facility to give away a processed deer to another person at the cost of the processing fee if the owner of the deer fails to pick up the processed deer or notifies the facility that the owner does not want the processed deer.

Effective Date: July 1, 2005.

Explanation of State Expenditures:

Explanation of State Revenues: Under existing law, a person who sells, offers to sell, purchases, or offers to purchase a deer or a part of a deer must reimburse the state $500 for the first violation and $1,000 for each subsequent violation. The money is deposited in the Conservation Officers Fish and Wildlife Fund. The proposal should have no impact on the collection of revenues from violations for this fund because the proposal does not pertain to the sale of deer meat, but to the processor recouping costs for processing. Under the proposal the deer meat must be given away. The meat processing facility must charge the person receiving the deer meat a reasonable and customary processing fee.
